COMPLAINT

RED→CRITICAL ITEM VIOLATIONS are more likely than other violations to contribute to food contamination or illness. These violations involve the food source and condition, food cooking and storage temperatures, sanitizing utensils, water and sewage, handwashing and other sanitary practices, handwashing sinks and supplies, pest control and use of poisonous materials.

BLUE→NON-CRITICAL ITEM VIOLATIONS are not directly related to the cause of food-borne illness, but if uncorrected, could negatively affect the operation of the restaurant. These include a lack of facility cleanliness and poor maintenance of equipment and facilities.

ADDITIONAL COMMENTS:

Follow-up to original inspection conducted 2/12/2009.

The violation cited during an inspection on 2/12/09 was cited incorrectly. No critical item violations were observed during this inspection. Retail Food Establishment Interpretation #09-01 allows whole raw tomatoes to be stored at room temperature and allows up to 4 hours for the tomatoes to be cooled to 41 Deg.F or colder; the sliced tomatoes had only been recently sliced and were well within the allowable 4 hour cool-down period when I obtained a temperature of 48 Deg.F as they were about to be placed in the cold-table refrigerator.
